What's New In FadingTaskbar?

This is a small utility which makes the taskbar transparent only when mouse is within it's area. It has also got three fading effects: fade in, fade out and solid. You can set the transparency levels for the entire area, for an individual maximized window or for no window. It will remember the original transparency set, so if you set the transparency to 50% again, it will remember that value for both individual settings and when maximized window.
